

All bottled water is not created equal...

At Arctic Chiller we've gone a step beyond what is required, for the testing and inspection of our product and for our facility.

We're proud to announce our NSF Certification.

Arctic Chiller voluntarily complies with the NSF Bottled Water Certification Program, which includes both extensive product evaluations as well as on-site audits of our bottling facility by NSF International, one of the most respected independent certification companies in existence today.

The NSF testing & inspection program provides for annual unannounced plant inspections covering every aspect of our bottling operation, from the source of the water, through the disinfection and treatment process, and including the container closure process. They also perform extensive product testing for over 160 chemical, inorganic, radiological, and microbiological contaminants.

NSF Certification represents the next level of quality assurance for us, and provides another reason for consumers to choose Arctic Chiller.

While all bottled water may not be created equal, our valued customers can remain confident of our commitment to delivering the high quality and great tasting bottled water you've come to enjoy.

Thank you for your interest in our bottled water quality assurance.
